

Dr Zheyi Liew

I am currently a Paediatric Respiratory Resident/Postgraduate PhD research fellow at Newcastle University. I aim to be a respiratory paediatrician with a research interest in the respiratory physiology of infants in the near future. My clinical interests include asthma, sleep medicine, complex airway and long-term ventilation. Outside respiratory, my management interests include training of junior doctors and improving safety culture in the workplace.